HOLY BIBLE

"Honor thy father and thy mother; that thy days may be long upon the land which the Lord thy God giveth thee."
Exodus XX: 12

We, the Trojan staff of 1956, sincerely dedicate our yearbook to our parents. It is they who have guided us over the rough spots in the road. It is they who have been near us in our greatest joys and shared our enthusiasm in our memorable moments of happy high school days. Our parents have been responsible for the enjoyment we have shared as freshmen, sophomores, juniors, and seniors, so it is to them we proudly dedicate our book with gratitude.

OUR BOARD OF EDUCATION: Ben Barber, salesman of Oehlert Caterpillar; Raleigh Beu, Gas Service Company; Ben Spatz, Spatz Grocery; Maurice McDonald, president, McDonald Funeral Home; Clyde Lampert, treasurer, First National Bank; Robert Ingram, Beloit Post Office; Harold Shamburg, Motel, Service Stations, 24-66 Cafe.

A project of the freshman class was their float for the '55 Football Homecoming. The float received first prize.

It was a rare moment when the above picture was snapped because all nine students of the staffs were busy working in the classroom on The B.H.S. Life or the Trojan Yearbook. THEY ARE: Pat Powell, Judy Donker, Penny White, Donita Selichnow, Mr. Wiebe, Nancy Gaskill, Linda Jordan, Gloria Miller, Ron McCune, Helen Hull.

Journalism Class Publishes 'Life' and 'Trojan' ...

The journalism class, made up of nine seniors met third hour each day and published 16 issues of The B.H.S. Life, and the largest yearbook ever assembled at Beloit High School, a book of 72 pages. The staffs listed below were appointed by Theodore Wiebe, adviser, early in the fall:

B. H. S. Life Editor	Linda Jordan
Business Manager	Judy Donker
Circulation Manager	Pat Powell
Sports Editor	Ron McCune
Reporters .	Carol Clark, Nancy Gaskill, Helen Hull, Gloria Miller, Donita Selichnow, Penny White

Trojan Yearbook Editor	Nancy Gaskill
Business Manager	Gloria Miller
Art Editor	Carol Clark

At second semester Penny White was appointed art editor to replace Carol Clark who dropped from school.

In November the Life Staff entered the Kansas Health and Tuberculosis Association School Press Project contest. The entry, after winning in the state contest, was sent to the national contest for competition. Writeups of the press clippings appear to the right.

Linda Jordan and Nancy Gaskill were the recipients of the annual certificate and letter awards given for outstanding work on publications in award assembly at the close of school.

'LIFE' WINS CERTIFICATE OF HONOR IN PRESS CONTEST

The BHS Life won a certificate of honor from the Kansas Tuberculosis Association. Nineteen schools entered, and the Life was one of the nine schools winning. The state winners will be sent to the National Tuberculosis Association for competition.

The nine schools winning included Syracuse, Pittsburg, Silver Lake, Chapman, Wichita, Haven, Russell, Olathe and Beloit.

School Paper Has Won A National TB Award

The BHS Life has received further recognition for its special tuberculosis issue. It has received a Certificate of Honor from the National Tuberculosis Association and the Columbia Scholastic Press Association. These two associations were co-sponsors of the nineteenth annual National School Press Project. Out of one thousand one hundred and thirty-seven papers entering this project, only one hundred and twenty received national awards.

That night after the final tryout was a sleepless one for many of us "would-be-actors." However, the next day when our names were posted as cast members, our happiness was complete, because we were unaware that our worries had only begun. Of course, none of us would have traded jobs with anyone in the world, but we really had to work.

All of us learned that acting is only one part of producing a play. We built a complete set and painted it; we used all kinds of light-costume committees; make-up committees, special committees; for publicity, stage props, and programs; and even these do not include all of the details which are so necessary for a good performance.

Sometimes, after an especially long night of rehearsals, one which might include going over one scene as many as eight or ten times, we were so exhausted, we could hardly move. But there's something you can't explain, that no one even noticed or complained.

And on opening night, when the directors gave us the huge box of shiny, red apples, tokens of good luck, and told us they had enough confidence in us to watch the whole performance from the audience, we realized that a few such rehearsal nights were worth this one breathless moment.

And I know that every junior who contributed in any way to the success of "Seventeenth Summer" felt duly rewarded when the final burst of applause reached his ears.

--Kay Reiter

Seniors, A Grown-Up Farce.

Before the tryouts for the senior play, "The Late Christopher Bean," came around this year, I thought of acting as something different, a lot of fun, and not much work. Even after tryouts, when the list of the characters, and their parts had been posted, I still could not believe I had been given a part.

After the first rehearsal, I found that in a small sense I had been right, plays are a lot of fun, and they are something different, but they are also a lot of work! We had to learn how to walk across the stage, how to stand, how to talk, but mainly how to act. Out of all of these things, the hardest for me to do was to learn my lines. I could not help wondering if my mind would not go blank once I was before the audience.

The four weeks before opening night flew by, and then I began to worry, would the audience like the play, is there something we should have done, and forgot, and most of all, will anyone come to see it? Then the play was over, and most of our worries were forgotten.

There is a lot I will always remember about the play, the tension, the fun, and the work, but I know that the longest remembrance will be of the thrill I had when I went in front of the audience for the first time on opening night.

I know we are all proud, and happy to have taken part in the play, and we feel we did our very best.

Hours of Practice...Many Games...

With a usual starting team of four juniors and one senior, the Trojan cage team fought hard through every game in the campaign. Even though they had an excess of determination, a definite disadvantage was their lack of height. However, due to the fighting spirit of the Trojans, the taller teams had to battle for every point that they made. Even though the team ended the season with a record just over the .500 mark, the feeling is that it was a very successful season.

Darry Melton was elected by his teammates to captain the basketball team this year. He was the only senior on the starting team, showing his outstanding basketball and leadership ability. Darry was a constant threat to the opposing teams with his ball-hawking and hard driving.

Bring Rewards of Sportsmanship...

The "B" team, coached by John Lane, completed the season with an exceptional record. They won thirteen games, while dropping only three. The boys gained valuable experience, which helps to prepare them for varsity basketball. Several members of the "B" team turned in some very commendable substitute action on the "A" team.

For Varsity, Reserves, Freshmen.

The freshmen basketball team, coached by Mr. Robert Harrison, has shown up well this year. Over the entire season they won nine games and lost only four. A highlight of the season was when they won all three games in the North Central Kansas League freshmen tournament to take home the first place trophy. There were fifteen boys on the squad. They showed the ability that it takes to develop into a future "A" team of good caliber.
